Minnesota Preparing for Centennial

By DOC QUIGG Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)- Joseph E Dillon, a sandy-haired Irishmen who at 37 has just been re-elected to his third consecutive term as mayor of St. Paul, Minn, has been in our town to let us know that his great state's centental celebration hits a climax this

On the motion of Senator Doug-las of Illinois, Minnesota was admitted to statehood 100 years ago next Sunday. On Saturday, St. Paul streets will ring to the dange dest hoopla parade since Paul Bunyan and his blue ox, Babe, stomped about the state creating one of its 10,000 lakes with every footprint.

Celebritles on Hand

There's be 67 floats, 67 historical units, and 67 bands (of the 76-trombone variety) headed by Gen. Lauris Norstad (a Red Wing, Minn., boy) and viewed by Judy Carland (a Grand Rapids, Minn., girl) along with Princess Astrid of Norway and Prince Bertil of Sweden,

In Minneapolis a place reputed to have more Scandiavians than Stockholm has Swedes, centennial day will have its main speech by one of the most traveled men of the century, John Foster Dulies, who will breeze in from Copenhagen, Berli, Paris, and other points too numerous to record.

One out of every three persons in Minnesota. Dillon said, is of Scandinavian - descent. He doesn't claim that this matter of nationality is the main causative force in the state's greatness, but he does point out that Minnesoin's railroad titan, James J. Hill, once

"I wouldn't give you a dime for a man on whom snow doesn't

Which remark brings the mayor to a langhing comment on Minnesota's weather: "I like what I call out balanced climate." If you live in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area. the balance strikes the delightful extremes of 20 below-zero every winter and 100 in the shade every summer. What man could complain about a 120-degree weather

Indian Name As for Minnesota, that's a Sioux Indian word which the mayor translates as "lad of the sky blue waters." And those 10,000 lakes have helped make Minnesota perhaps the fishingest inland state. It issues more than a million fishing licenses a year.

Incidentally, the jutting-up northwest angle of the Minnesota border is the northernmost part of the United States. Remember that You may be invited on a TV quiz program some day.

Indictment Singer Sought

_ A district at-BOSTON (UP) torney sought today to indict rock 'n' roll king Alan Freed for inciting a riot during a performance last Saturday night.

Suffolk County District Attorney Garrett H. Byrne said he would begin presenting evidence shortly before a grand jury with "a view toward obtaining an indictment against Fred." He said he felt an indictment was warranted on the basis of police statements and interviews with "scores" of wil-nesses to a riot which erupted outside the arona early Sunday morning. Fifteen persons, including sev-

Tritien persons, including several women, were injured or assaulted as frenzied teenagers poured out of the arena. One, a 19-year-old sailor, was stabbed and critically wounded. At least three reported thay were rebbed. The indictment effort was the latest in a series of developments involving. Freed who calls him. involving Freed, who calls him-self the "father of rock in roll." As a result of the Boston inci dent, authorities cancelled sched uled performances of the Freed Iroupe in New Haven, Conn., Newark, N.J. and Troy N.Y. In addition, city officials in New Britain, Conn., Wednesday ruled that city out-of-bounds to rock in roll shows.

Wednesday night, however, a performance went on as scheduled in Providence, R.I., but with strict restrictions, as laid down by Mayor Walter Reynolds. About 3,500 teen agers attended the "Rig Beat" show in the Rhode Island anditorium.

Also in attendance were 20 uniformed policemen a detail of plain clothes police men and women and a group of Youth Service Board representatives who volunitered as chapsingles.

Freed who was master of geremonles, at the Boston show, did not appear.

monies at the Boston show, did not appear.

Farilor Freed yent into Common Pleas Court in New Haven in an unsuccessive attempt to obtain an injunction to keen Mayor Richard G. Lee from cutorcule a ban on a performance by the Freed troupe tonight.

Sidney Cohen promoter of the show in Providence and Boston charged Massachusetts authorities were strying to undermine our concerts.

The Newark sponeous trace Graves said he would picket City Hall today in protest against the ban on Saturday's show.
